Second Interview with Client at Cleveland High School at 12:43 2/3/19

Milan: So you can click on the amazon logo I made and effectively what happens is you can check currently saved products and save new products.

Client: Okay

Milan: So if you were to go to Amazon right now and randomly selected a product. Then you can go the extension interface and hit "Save product." And then you can click "Check saved products."

Client: Okay

Milan: So now the extension will notify you once there is a price change.

Client: That's handy. It boggles my mind you figured out how to do this.

Milan: Thank you. So what would be another feature you would like.

Client: I think I mentioned previously about the app uhh Kayak, I don't know if you're familiar with it, where umm, and it's kinda like almost weather forecasting for things like flight prices so it can give a sense of this is the best deal you can get so you should buy it now. So something like that would be like "we've reached the best price so now would be a good time to buy", that would be helpful.

Milan: Alright, well, thank you!
